MVPOA opposes driving range, commercial wells & feed yard

Five items were on the agenda of the Mid-Valley Property Owners meeting last Thursday.

An exploration of the plans for a proposed driving range on the Merrill property near Carmelo School was conducted by Bob Schusser. The majority of members present turned down the plan as commercial use in a residential zone and incompatible.

The MVPOA approved a letter to the Planning Commission opposing the ten residential units proposed for the one and a quarter acres at the corner of Carmel Valley Rd. and Carmel Knolls Dr. If the controversial piece of C-1 property is rezoned they suggest it be consistent with the surrounding area.

Another letter expressing support and approval of utilizing the 15 acre parcel adjacent to De la Mesa Carmel as a botanical garden was authorized and sent to Supervisor Tom Hudson.

A letter of opposition to an application for a cattle feed yard on Schulte Rd. was sent to PlanCom supporting residents of nearby property. The recommendation of the property owners' group was that the existing limit of 20,000 sq. ft. per animal be used when large animals are introduced into a residential area.

The well, proposed by California-American Water Co., to be located adjacent to the Carmel River was discussed. The increased use of wells in this area has brought dismay to some landowners who fear the tapping of the sub-surface water will lead to increased death of foliage along the river. GAS PLAN FOR UPPER VALLEY—In the near future, PG&E will submit an application to the Calif. Public Utilities Commission which will permit extending its natural-gas service to Carmel Valley Village area. An eight-inch main would be extended along Carmel Valley Rd. from Berwick Manor where it terminates at mid-Valley now. Following approval of the application by the State PUC, PG&E will launch a campaign to sign up a required 90% of homeowners in the area, about 450, not now using electric heat. Valley leaders, who heard about the plans from PG&E officials at a lunch at CV Golf and Country Club Wednesday, were enthusiastic about the proposal.

January date for new Carmel Valley Inn

Construction will begin immediately on a new and finer Carmel Valley Inn, according to Graeme Harrison, co-manager of the Inn which burned early last Thursday morning.

The day after the spectacular fire, which leveled the main building of the Inn, John and Graeme Harrison met with owner Craig Smith to expedite reconstruction. The Harrisons have a 10 year lease and had just completed extensive redecorating of the hotel this past year. The re-building conference took place in Morgan Hill, where the Harrison's joined Smith, a resident of Hillsborough.

The exterior design of the building will remain basically the same, but the interior arrangement will be re-planned. A friendly circular bar will be located next to the dining room, but across from its former spot on the original porch.

The lobby will remain essentially the same but will have a two-way fireplace. The small dining room will be converted to a conference room for the convenience of the many conventions which locate at the Inn. The office will be enlarged and the dining room and kitchen will be modernized.

DAMAGE ESTIMATE

The fire damage was held to a minimum by the quick containment of the fire by the Valley Volunteers. Damage is estimated between $50,000 and $60,000 by fire chief Chip Collins.

Collins said that the fire probably started in the kitchen, burning along a free wall and then rising to the attic where it quickly streaked across into the dining room and on to the lobby. The electric clock in a kitchen panel had stopped at 1:17 a.m. with the fire reported at 2:05.

A LUCKY HEADACHE

Mrs. Harrison had awakened at 2 with a headache, according to her daughter, Nicki. When the lights wouldn't go on in the apartment, she went into the adjacent office and from there could see a faint glow "like sunrise" coming from the dining room area. She woke her husband and called the fire department.

There was no more than a few seconds lapse between the time that the fire call was placed and the siren went off.

In the meantime Mrs. Harrison had wakened Hector Fernandez, manager of the restaurant and bar, and he ran to wake the other. There were a number of guests staying at the Inn, including a group of senior citizens. Mrs. Nicola Hancock, the Harrisons' daughter and her three young children live in a rear apartment near the butane tank. They were also immediately evacuated, along with several college students who reside in staff quarters.

Fire chief Collins said that it was fortunate that it was nighttime with little wind since burning shakes flew high in the air and could easily have ignited adjacent buildings. The heat was so intense that cars parked in front of the Inn sizzled when sprayed with water, he added.

CHARRED TIMBERS are the only remains after the violent fire which consumed the main building of Carmel Valley Inn Thursday morning.

Illegal gunshot fells family pet

A female boxer puppy belonging to Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Dickinson of Horizon Way made her way home Thursday morning after having been shot through the right flank seconds before. The dog was observed coming from the area of lower Nido Way and Terrace Way at 8 a.m. immediately after the sound of a shot had been heard by Mrs. Dickinson.

Dr. Gerald Petkus who treated the pup said that the wound appeared to have come from a 22 rifle bullet which narrowly missed the bone. The bullet followed a characteristic 22 cal. pattern of mushrooming as it emerged, but fragments of lead which were found are being analyzed.

The area where the shot appears to have been fired is a closely populated residential neighborhood off Country Club Dr. Other residents reported to the Sheriff's deputies that they had not heard the shot, and according to the deputies all seemed amiable toward the animal.

PG & E promises substantial savings

Impressive savings are promised by PG&E through natural gas service for Upper Carmel Valley.

Savings would be from 50 to 70% compared to bottle gas, according to PG&E figures released at the meeting week before last of officials of the utility company and local leaders.

There was some wariness because PG&E has generated considerable conversation in the past about the possibility of extending gas service up the Valley, but that's been the extent of it. So the hope this time is that the utility company means business—which it indicates it does.

The one slight catch is the requirement for signing up 90% of prospects in the area planned to be served, including earnest money of $50 deposits. This is refundable upon connection to the service or if the 90% don't sign up within six months, which is the time allotted by the California Utilities Commission.

Natural gas for the Upper Valley would repay the investment to all users within a very short time. We agree: "People can't afford not to hook up."

Valley residents express views on PG & E proposal

Response was enthusiastic from local leaders for PG&E's proposal to bring natural gas to the Village:

Rex Pryer, president of CVPOA: "I'm sure local property owners will be enthusiastic about PG&E's proposals. After all, you can't beat saving money, which natural gas would do for everybody. CVPOA, certainly, will do all it can to help the project."

Lou Gardner, president of Carmel Vally Commercial Property Owners Association: "It's great news for the Valley. It should cut our costs for gas from 25% to 50%, depending on the amount used."

Pres. Tom Hefling of Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce: "It's a good thing for the Valley. PG&E is certainly sincere in wanting to go ahead and has developed practical plans. It will take a while for everybody to be served, but at least it's a start."

Kevin Walsh, representing the La Rancheria area: "I don't see how we can afford not to hook up to gas. The savings will be terrific and tell the story."

Morden Buck, chairman of the Planning Commission's Upper Valley Advisory Committee: "It's a service that this community, by virtue of its growth, has long merited. My only hope at this time is that the projected schedule will be accomplished. Although we all want rural atmosphere for Carmel Valley, we also hope for the amenities of this century, and natural gas is one of these."

Briscoes written up for Model A magazine

Jack and Elizabeth Briscoe of Country Club Dr. and their Model A Sports Coupe are featured in the current newsletter of GRAMPA which stands for Good Restored A's of Monterey Peninsula Area.

The Briscoes have been members of the organization since they came to the Valley a year ago when Jack assumed position of Dept. Chairman of Engineering at MPC, after years of travel as a special engineering consultant.

They acquired their 1930 model about 5 years ago, and have been Model A buffs ever since. Mrs. Briscoe drives theirs each day to the Village House where she works. It also takes them to outings of the club "if they are not too far away." They have yet to drive it to a club "meet" which have been held in such places as Yosemite and Boulder Creek, because they don't consider it in good enough shape or beautiful enough finish. But they are ambitious to fully restore their pet and display her in all her glory someday.

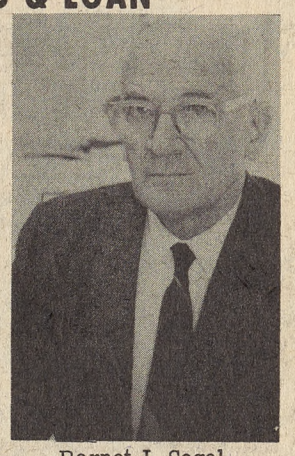
CARMEL SAVINGS & LOAN



Barnet J. Segal

As the area itself has prospered and grown, so has Carmel Savings and Loan forged ahead. Each year this financial institution has added greater prestige to its established reputation and passed another milestone on the way to becoming an integral part of our continued growth and economic stability.

Dedicated to the encouragement of thrift and home ownership, Carmel Savings and Loan contributes in a dual way to the healthy growth of the financial well being of the individual. Savings accounts, whether large or small, earn the highest permissible current interest rate and are insured up to ten thousand dollars by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the Federal government. And, in addition, they are backed by the twenty million dollar assets of Carmel Savings and Loan Association. In its second role, the Carmel Savings and Loan promotes home ownership through its issuance of loans for home construction and home improvement. In this role their knowledgeable and experienced experts are also often able to provide valuable advice for the prospective builder.

Carmel Savings and Loan is under the competent direction of Barnet J. Segal, president and general manager, a man well known in area financial circles. It was Mr. Segal who founded and managed the first bank in Carmel, and thus has led in the local financial industry since its infancy. For these reasons and because of Mr. Segal's continuing leadership in community affairs as well, we must regard him as a first citizen of Carmel and his Carmel Savings and Loan a foremost local institution.

CARMEL CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL

Ritche Patterson

The most beautiful convalescent hospital this writer has ever visited, and certainly one with a reputation for tender and loving care of patients is Carmel Convalescent Hospital. The ultra-modern quarters of this facility are delightfully located high atop a hill in Carmel on Valley Way near Hiway #1 where quiet and solitude prevail. The tempo of the institution, however, is keyed to brisk and efficient activity as the nurses and their aides tenderly care for the convalescent and post-operative patients in their charge.

Each room at Carmel Convalescent Hospital is tastefully and decoratively furnished with the needs of the individual uppermost in mind. Meals are prepared in a spotless model kitchen with nourishment tailored to each requirement and close attention given to special diets. Other attractions of this splendid institution are the Arts and Crafts programs for patients as well as the Jacuzzi Whirlpool therapy. The youth and verve of the Junior Mints who do voluntary duty in the hospital has a tonic effect on the patients and reflects creditably both on the institution and the high school girls from Carmel High.

Undoubtedly one of the finest establishments of its type on the Peninsula, Carmel Convalescent Hospital is a credit to the capabilities of Mrs. Ritchie Patterson, Adminstrator. Mrs. Patterson has done a splendid job and has surely warranted our highest praise.

CABLE TELEVISION

Wm. McPheeters

Now in its fourteenth year of operation the name Cable Television, also known as Cable Television-Alarm Corp-MPTV, is almost as well known as the network shows they beam into our area. Cable facilities are now being extended to all areas as rapidly as possible, and the firm promises that in due time they will serve the entire valley area. In the meantime, Cable TV is bending every effort to fulfill their role as a prime Monterey Peninsula sales and service organization dedicated to the best interests of the community.

Ted Hughett

As pioneers in color TV on the Peninsula, Cable TV has been franchised by all the major manufacturers. Such famous makes as Zenith, RCA and Admiral in both color and black and white are in profuse selection at the store in Carmel at Lincoln and Seventh along with a selection of other sets. Sales and installation are backed by the reputation of one of the foremost televion firms in the area whereas repairs have the benefit of the most talented crew of electronic technicians.

Credit for the success of Cable Television is due to President William L. McPheeters and Vice-president Ted W. Hughett, both of whom have a broad and varied background of experience in their field. The talent, dignity and business acumen of these two men have earned our highest praise and expression of good will.

Carmel Woman's Club will see Nature film by Mrs. Scott

"California Birds Close-Up" is the title of a film program and commentary to be presented Monday, Oct. 24, to the Carmel Woman's Club by the well-known naturalist, Mrs. Frank Scott (Dorothy Dean Sheldon) at the meeting of the Club's Book Section, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clare Appleby.

Mrs. Scott, now a Carmel Valley resident, has had many years' experience as a photographer and lecturer on wild life, beginning in her native Massachusetts and during her later years, in California.

Born in Boston, she spent her summers on the New Jersey coast, developing her love for the out of doors. At Tufts College she became a laboratory assistant to Dr. Herbert V. Neal, noted biologist.

She had an extensive career with the Girl Scouts, becoming a field aide in the Boston area, and attended a training camp each summer. Later she became an assistant in a camp at Briarcliff, N.Y., where the famed naturalist, Ernest Thompson Seton was a frequent visitor.

It was Mrs. Scott's Girl Scout activities that brought her in contact with Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who became one of her closest friends.

For many years, Mrs. Scott showed her film programs to some 10,000 school children per year, and at clubs, church groups, hospitals and the like. At one point in her career, she conducted a nature study program for primary school children at the Perkins Institution for the Blind in Watertown, Mass.

She has compiled six complete programs on nature subjects — wildflowers, water birds, wild birds and animals from the Coast to the High Sierra.

Assisting as hostesses for the day are Mrs. Vera Jackson, Mrs. A.C. Bryans, Mrs. M.S. Hughes and Mrs. Arthur E. Zipse. Mrs. Mildred F. Moore, Mrs. W. Phelps, Jr. and Mrs. Myrtle Stoddard and Mrs. W.B. Skowran will preside at the tea tables.

Reader protests effect of riverside wells

EDITOR: Many of your readers may be unaware of the systematic deforestation of the banks of the Carmel River which has been underway for several years. Observation of the river banks from about a mile above the Farm Center Bridge to about the same distance downstream will show literally hundreds of dead and dying trees; one sixth of the once lovely river greenery from the Village to the sea already destroyed, perhaps forever.

Coincident with this destruction, so gradual it has not been readily apparent, has been the increasing use of wells along the river in that area to supply the demand for water of the ever increasing population of the Monterey Peninsula. A logical, although admittedly not certain, cause and effect relationship is as follows. The trees which grow naturally along a stream, cottonwoods, willows, etc., need water to live, underground water when the river is dry in the long periods between winter rains. Man takes the water. The trees die!

Apart from the scenic and recreational values, which this community normally hold dear, a perhaps more serious threat faces us. In the lower reaches of the Valley, from just above Farm Center down, the soil along the river consists mainly of sand, gravel and silt deposited through the centuries. For many decades the trees and shrubs along the banks have constrained the river to its present course. Falsely secure in the knowledge of where the river flowed men have invested many thousands of dollars in residences in presumably safe areas. With the bank-defining vegetation gone what course will the river take in the flood years when storm winds have toppled the stark skeletons and they clog and dam at the bridges? What will be the loss in property and lives?

The California American Water Company has applied for a Use Permit to activate another well a mile or so downstream from its present sites and discussions have been held of still another in the Schulte Road area. The Monterey County Planning Commission, if I correctly interpreted its attitude at the Sept. 28 meeting, will find no grounds to disapprove the Use Permit at their Oct. 19 meeting if the County Health Department approves the site. They have been advised by the County Counsel that at least some of the consequences of such pumping are not within their jurisdiction in arriving at a decision.

Must we have not just the present two, but four or five and finally seven miles of Carmel River desert? Is it not time to explore fully the consequences of our actions in exploiting our environment? Must we have a disastrous flood and then a concrete-lined Los Angeles River bed before we consider, too late, the consequences and alternatives to the present course of action and that the easiest, quickest, cheapest way is not necessarily, in the long term, the best way?

Edwin B. Lee

EDITOR: All of us at Carmel Valley Inn wish to express our deep appreciation to the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department for its superb job of stopping the fire at the Inn.

It took no longer than two minutes for members to reach the Inn and the speed and efficiency with which they stopped the tremendous fire seemed miraculous. The Valley can take pride in a remarkable organization which, chiefly volunteers, does such a magnificent job.

May we add our thanks, too, to the many other people who have worked early and late to assist us in restoring essential services. We are grateful for the kindness and helpfulness of all.

Sincerely,
Graeme and John Harrison

Valley residents have always silently felt that they had the best looking children in the whole world. Now two members of the "sand-box set" have been awarded crowns and certificates to prove that at least among those judged in a recent "Guys and Gals" contest sponsored by the Knights of Pythias Lodge #80, that they are the best looking boy and girl from Carmel and Carmel Valley.

Master Nelson Daniel Holman, son of Mrs. Deanna Holman of W. Carmel Valley Rd. was named King after winning first in the beauty contest judged in the Pacific Grove Auditorium. He was later awarded a health certificate at the Mark Thomas Lodge where he was crowned and presented with a trophy. The pint sized 22-month-old monarch is the grandson of Mrs. Katherine Holman of Carmel and Nelson Hyler of Pacific Grove, Elmarie Dyke of Pacific Grove and the great grandson of Gladys Dean.

Nelson's cousin, Dina Lori Holman of the Lower Valley proudly wears the Queen's tiara awarded at the same time and on the same merit points. Dina's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Holman. Great grandmother of the 11-month-old charmer is Mrs. Nita Bailey also of the Valley.

The many friends of Cmdr. and Mrs. Mel Kline had planned a rousing welcome when it was learned the former Valley family would be returning to their home on Sage Rd. after a duty tour in Japan. A letter to friends last week, however, stated that their orders had been changed and that they are reporting to Omaha, Neb., where Mel has been assigned to Joint-Staff. They are leasing their Valley home until they can once again return to our area.

Results of the Monthly Masterpoint Duplicate Bridge Tournament held Oct. 4 at the Community Center by the Valley Bridge Club were announced as a first place tie among Mr. and Mrs. Luke Slinkert and Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Maurice Stoney. Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Van Laanen placed third.

Mrs. W.E. Viljoen has returned to Kailua-Kona on the big island of Hawaii after spending the summer months with the families of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Viljoen and her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bottaro. Two weeks before her departure were spent on Village Dr. with the five Bottaro children while their parents took a thrilling Hawaiian holiday.

The Bottaros were met in Honolulu for a brief visit with Jeannine's sister, Barbara Viljoen, before going on to Kailua-Kona for a five day visit with Jeannine's father, a former Valleyite, Mr. W.E. Viljoen. They found that they liked all of the native delicacies, the best of which were served at the Ocean View Restaurant owned by the families of Ronnie Lee and Tuck Kiwata. These are radio "ham" friends made during a radio relay from the Islands to the Girards in Carmel when Mr. Viljoen was quite ill a year ago. The young men had visited the Peninsula last year and enjoyed returning the hospitality found at Tom's Wharf restaurant, Lou's Fish Grotto. A touch of hilarity was added to the Bottaro departure from Kona by these young men who came dashing to the airport at break neck speed to present them with going away gifts, Pendana (Hala) hats.

In Kona, they enjoyed the return of the marlin fishing boats flying proud flags announcing the day's catch. It was there they saw T.V. star, Richard Boone, who has a home in Honolulu, but prefers the fishing near Kona on his boat, "Goodbye Charlie." Mr. Boone returned to the Mainland on the same flight with the Bottaros.

Returning to Honolulu, Jeannine and Tom had a fun-filled four day adventure with Barbara, an executive secretary for Spence-Cliff Restaurants, as their guide. Welcome home!

When the Camp Fire Girls of the Monterey Peninsula held their Grand Council Fire last spring at the Trail and Saddle Club grounds, the award beads for the group led by Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. Leo Davis, had not arrived. The girls were presented certificates and promised an Awards party at a later date.

That date was last weekend at the Adobe Oaks Motel with a delicious hamburger fry hosted by Mr. and Mrs. James Papineau for the girls and members of their families. Among the many good things to eat was lettuce donated by W.E. Walker of A. and P. in Salinas and tomatoes donated by Fred Nason of the Cachagua. Both men had donated produce to the Fiesta.

Newsprint Gremlins, the plague of any newspaper office, have been busy lately. College friends of Gerry Barron Jr. were surprised to read in a recent column that Gerry had attended a Valley luncheon with his wife and daughter, Mary. Gerry, a political science major at Cal Poly, accompanied his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barron, Sr. and THEIR daughter, Mary!

The item discussing in detail the Fire Science course currently offered at Hartnell College omitted the names of the two Volunteers from the Valley Department taking the eighteen hour course. They are Peter Garneau and Larry Feldman.

Gremlins garbled the item about Jack Swanson returning from a flying-fishing vacation to the British Columbia Ranch owned by his brother, Reed. Joining them on the northern excursion were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Swanson of San Jose. All reported tro-

Cub Scouts invite new members

An important organization meeting for Carmel Valley Cub Scouting is scheduled next Monday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Tularcitos School multi-purpose room.

Inviting all interested parents to attend is Glen Low, newly named Cubmaster of the CV Cub pack, No. 76. A teacher at Fitch School of the Monterey School District, he is a Valley resident and he and his wife operate the Glenwood Chinchilla ranch here.

"This is an organizational meeting, which will determine how much interest there is in Cub Scouting in the Valley," Low said.

Middle School wins over Fitch Jr. High

Carmel Middle School ran wild against Fitch Jr. High last Saturday, triumphing in three out of four games.

Carmel 8As maintained its undefeated record, shutting out Fitch 20-0.

The Middle School's 7A squad won by the run-away score of 36-0 and the 7Bs came through with a 15-8 victory.

Carmel's 8B team fought gallantly, but lost to Fitch 18-6. Outstanding for the local 8Bs were David Carlson at end and backs Richard Busick and David Eagling.

This Saturday the four Middle School teams meet Colton in Monterey.

4 TDs BY WESTON

In the 7A tilt, Kim Weston scored four TDs, all on pitchouts from QB Ted Hall. Weston ran for 40 yards, 20, 30 and 50 yards, all touchdowns. Assisting Weston was the effective blocking of Albert Hood, Tod Gebhardt and Bob Conlan.

Conlan worked the reverse play for big gains for the 7As and Ted Hall, a newcome to the team, did an outstanding job at quarterback, mixing up his plays and running for big yardage himself. Ted scored the other TD of the game by sweeping around end for 10 yards.

Coach Ralph Blumenthal had praise for all of his 7A players, but singled out Conlan, Hall, Gebhardt and, of course, Kim Weston.

SPARKY IGNITES

In the 7B tilt, it was a case of Sparky LeGrange sparking his team to victory. From the first play to the final gun, LeGrange ran and passed for big yardage. Sparky ran 45 yards for one big touchdown and 30 for another. He also played a first-rate defensive game.

Other players who contributed big parts in the victory were Doug Breton, Dan Kingsbury and Jim Shelton.

For the unbeaten 8As, QB Jim De Amaral took charge right from the opening play and never let up.

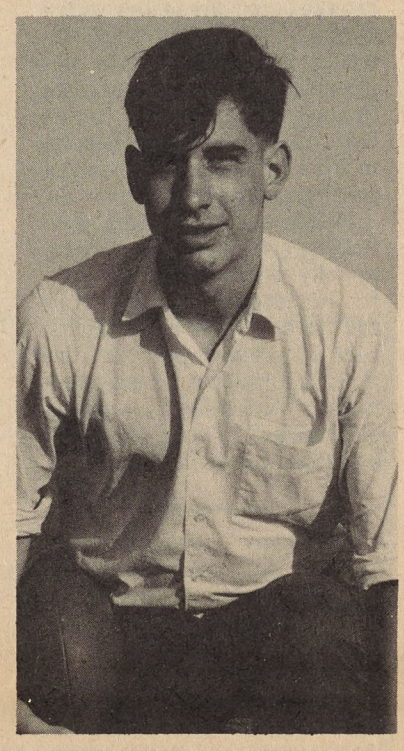
"It was obvious every boy wanted to win," Coach Blumenthal commented. The Middle School 8As' players worked double and triple reverses all day for big gains. Receiving many of De Amaral's sharpshooting passes was Ricky Hall, a newcomer.

DE AMARAL PASSES

Early in the game, Jim Conlan intercepted a Fitch pass and scampered down the sideline for 50 yards and a touchdown. He scored another big one minutes later, running back a punt 75 yards for a counter.

De Amaral threw a 40-yard beauty to the waiting arms of Ricky Hall to complete the day's scoring.

Also contributing to the 8As' best performance of the season were John Duhring at end for his defensive job, Hans Smith for his tremendous catches in the opposition territory and Craig Dickenson, Greg Korver, Allen Harber and Chris Foley, all of whom did outstanding jobs on both defense and offense.



CHAMP KICKER, PASSER Ward Gillette won the football kicking and passing competition at Carmel Middle School Friday before last, then went on to win the area competition at MPC. That's the handsome medal awarded for the victory. The 13-year-old athlete will compete in Northern California finals in San Francisco, the winner of which goes to Washington, D.C. He was out of action from a charley horse on the 8A team at the Middle School last week, but is sure he will be in shape for the San Francisco competition. Terry Seeders won the contest for 12-year-old boys at the Middle School and went on to place 3rd in the MPC meet.

THE WINNING CHAPARRAL of Phil Hill was checked over by mechanics between heats of Sunday's Monterey Grand Prix at Laguna Seca. The twin Chaparral of Jim Hall (No. 66) placed next, three seconds behind. Most exciting moment came, however, when Parnelli Jones passed Hill and Hall with a burst of speed to place 1st in the second heart. Jones had not finished the first heart, won by Hill, because of car trouble.

Padres tie Gonzales 7-7

Carmel High Padres battle Hollister this Saturday, on the home field. Freshmen game-time is 10:30, followed by the JV, with the Varsity to start about 1:30.

Although the Carmel varsity fought to a thrilling 7-7 tie against Gonzales last Friday, the Padres took both the pre-liminary MTAL games with Gonzales—the JV's winning 19-6, freshmen 33-18.

CV basketball team

A new basketball team with a full playing schedule is being organized in Carmel Valley by Dave Golden. The team, named the Carmel Valley Hawks, will play throughout the Monterey Bay area, with AAU teams and those from Ft. Ord, local churches and the Commercial League.

The team will have a 30 game schedule and practice will begin in about two weeks. Both uniforms and transportation will be provided.

Schaurer sets cross country track record

Records fell in a dual cross country meet Thursday afternoon with King City at Carmel High.

The Padre varsity won 20 to 35. Carmel's Kim Schaurer set a new course record of 10:17, lowering his own record of 10:42 set Sept. 22.

Noel Mapstead set a sophomore record of 10:39, three seconds faster than the former varsity record.

Keevin Percival placed third behind Mapstead with a good time of 10:48. Mathew Ward was fifth in 10:56.

Mark Eisenhauer at 11:21, Phil Goulding at 11:38 and Barry Bates at 11:47 completed the varsity run.

The JVs lost a close one, 30 to 26, to King City. Don Hays and Chris Manke showed marked improvement, leading the junior varsity.

The Padre Reserve team won 25-30. Curt Hays and Steve Most won positions on the JV team with very good times.

Next meet will be with Live Oak this Thursday here.

And Saturday an exhibition meet with Pacific Grove is scheduled between halves of the Hollister-Carmel football game here.

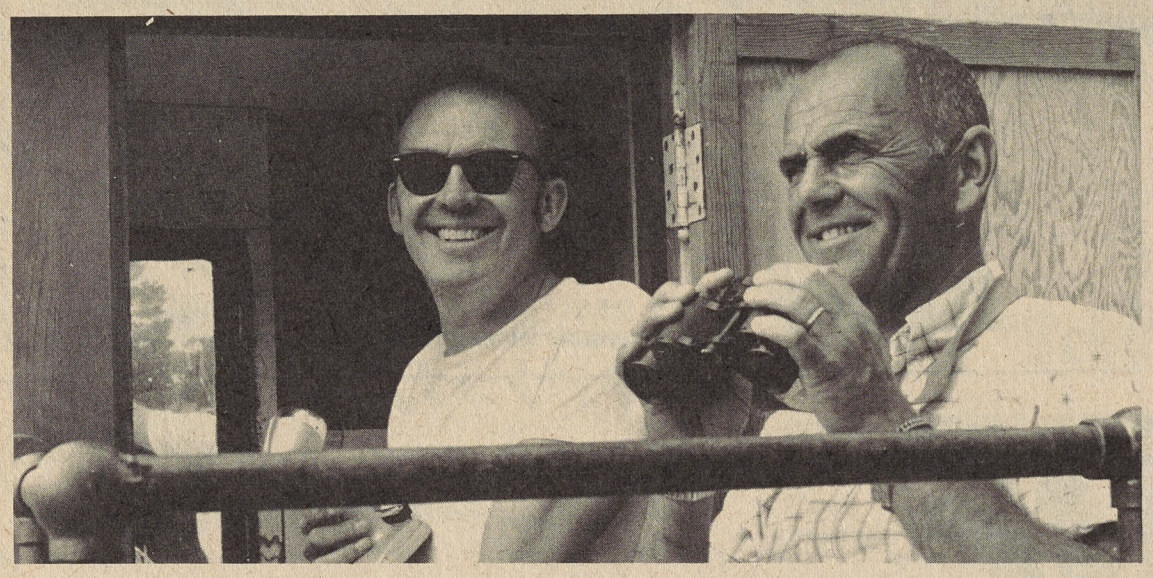
SURROUNDED by students is Dr. Harris Taylor, new superintendent of Carmel School district, at the recent San Lorenzo game on the home field. He has personal as well as professional interest in the Padres, for he has his two sons, Steven, a 9th grader, and Mark, in the 11th grade, attending Carmel High. Young lady in bottom center is the Brazilian student, Tais Dos Santos, sponsored by the American Field Service at the high school.



WHO'S WHO on the gridiron, play-by-play, is revealed by these two Padre-parent volunteers at home games. The voice heard over the loud-speaker is that of Don McKenzie, left, who has a 9th grade daughter, Sally, in the High School. Helping by spotting is Henry "Diz" Newman, whose son, Randy, is the Carmel varisty quarterback.

BATTERED JV's lined up and waited and waited for the varsity to prance through, to snap the paper banner at the end. This impatient pause was at the last home game, with San Lorenzo.

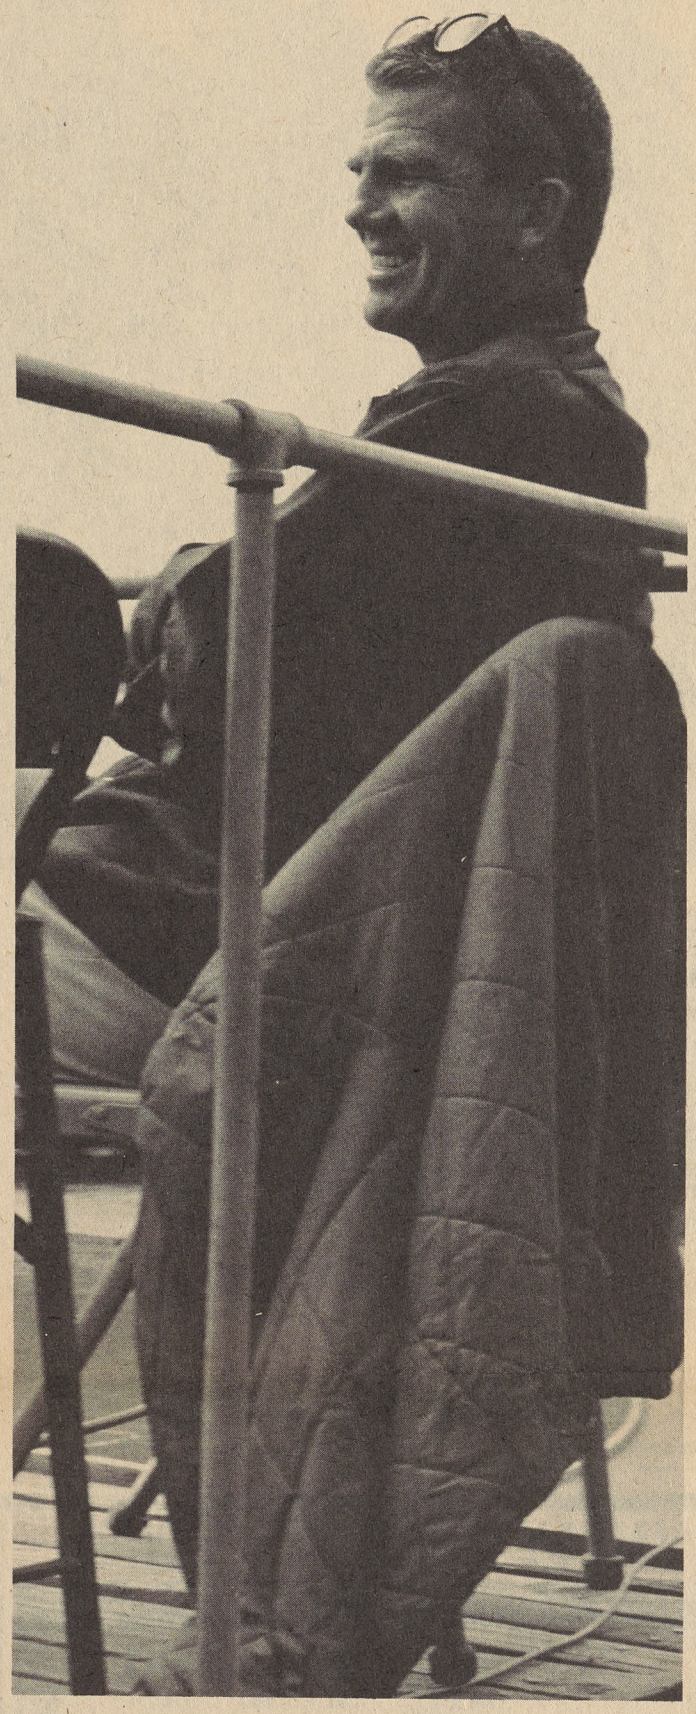
Parents and faculty back up Padre griders

PRETTY GIRL pops out of padre disguise. Sharrie Stewart lifts the quaint grey padre mask, which is fringed by gay red ribbonish hair, in which she cavorts with the cheer leaders. She's expected to help with morale at the next home game with Hollister, Oct. 22.



TOPSIDE on the announcer's cage, Padre Principal Warren Edwards mans the movie cameras which record most of the varsity contests and some of the JV and freshman gridiron games. Color film turns out to be cheaper, he says, and offers far faster service; processed film comes back ready for showing on Tuesday following a Saturday game.

First aid calls

Joe Olivera, 1841 Laguna in Seaside, was brought to the Fire house with a nail puncture in his right foot, Oct. 8 at 2:40 p.m. by Vic Carp. The firemen on duty administered first aid and took him to a local physician.

Mrs. Howard Scheid, a medical emergency on Paso Cresta, was taken to a local physician by the first aid crew for treatment and then released. The call was made Oct. 8 at 7:46 p.m.

A fall from a horse on Aliso Rd. resulted in a fractured right shoulder and multiple lacerations for twelve-year-old Dianne Lompe. The Red Cross ambulance was called Oct. 10 at 5:14 p.m. and took the injured girl to a local doctor's office where she was treated and released to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lompe of Via Mallorca..

A medical emergency call was answered Oct. 10 at 10:40 p.m. at 51 Lower Circle where the First Aid crew was called to transport Mrs. S.N. Trevino to Community Hospital.

Mrs. Zane Speiser and Mrs. Mel Blevens, co-chairmen of the Halloween Carnival sponsored by the Tularcitos Parents Club, gave a coffee Tuesday morning at the Blevens home in Robles del Rio for the room mothers who are serving as booth chairmen for the Carnival. Among plans discussed for the Oct. 28th event was a Bingo Room for the adults to be co-chairmanned by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nottenkamper and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sclawy. Prizes will be home made cakes. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoover are in charge of decorating the multi-pupose room with art projects under the direction of Mr. Robert Skiles.

Mrs. Margaret Bennett celebrated the nearby birthdates of her two youngest daughters with a party Saturday at their home on Laurel Dr. Laurie, who was 4 and Susie, who was 3, shared a carousel theme used on the cake, table and wall decorations in shades of pink and red.

Guests who were delighted with the decor, gifts, games and refreshments were Christine Sands, Patricia, Sharon and Kathy Collins, David and Louie Powell, Stacie and Kris Weber, Scarlett, Rogan, Shane and Garth Hattan, Barbara and Willie Emmons. Assisting with the party preparations were the other Bennett children, Elaine, Julie and Ronnie, and their aunt, Mrs. A.A. Collins.

Excitement mounts as the time for the drawing for the lovely crystal candlestick approaches. The exquisite heirloom was presented to the Sodality of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church and was given to its recent owners thirty years ago by a lady then in her late nineties.

Mrs. Lou Allaire, Sodality Prefect, hoping to unravel a portion of its mysterious past, took it to the Viking Crystal Shop in Carmel. They could find no trace of where or when it was made, but did state that it is one solid sphere of crystal. It is presently on display in the Sugar 'n' Spice Shop and tickets may be purchased there or from any Sodality member. The drawing will take place at the next business meeting of the organization.

150 guests enjoyed the banquet luncheon at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club which followed the 1 p.m. nuptial Mass at St. Angela's Church in Pacific Grove of Rosaria Christine Castorina and Eugene Michael O'Donnell. George Pollock of Carmel Valley served as an usher and Joe Bottaro, cousin of the bride, served as an altar boy.

A lucky little girl to have so many willing baby sitters is Diane Roberts Drewien who was born Sept. 15 at the Community Hospital. Little Diane, who weighed six pounds, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Russell Drewien of Schulte Rd.

Her sisters include Mrs. Priscilla Bratty, Mrs. Carolyn Lee, and a brother, Max Paul Drewien of Pacific Grove. Sisters Linda and Debra, and a brother, David, remain at home. Mrs. Milly Funchess, the maternal grandmother, lives in Pacific Grove.

Outlook Leisure Times

CTapCJS VICE COMMODORE Barbara J. Burdick practices her pledge of allegiance to the "ap" pennant in preparation for the Society's program set to start at 3 p.m., Saturday, on the Custom House beach. Climax of the day is the Fandango at the Mark Thomas, beginning at 6:30.

Gala Flamingo is Ap-t climax

A gala banquet and Fandango will climax the festivities of the 2nd annual Commodore T. ap Catesby Jones Day on Saturday. For the first time in 124 years the capture of Monterey by Commodore Jones will be re-enacted at 3 p.m. on the beach between Fishermen's Wharf and the Municipal Pier No. 2.

A victory parade charging the Presidio will culminate in brief ceremonies and the announcement that there is no state of war between Mexico and the U.S.

With that, the "conquerors" will haul down the "ap" pennant and retreat to the sea as it happened in 1842!

The Fandango that evening, with guests in Spanish, Indian or Sailor dress, will be reminiscent of the many fiestas which were given in Old Monterey for Commodore Jones. Anyone interested in an "ap experience" is invited to join the party and dine and dance at the Mark Thomas Inn from 6:30 on. Original entertainment of hysterical nature plus typical "ap" horseplay is scheduled during the evening.

'Rosenkavalier' at Village Theatre

Carmel's Village Theatre has been selected to present an exclusive showing of the widely-acclaimed film classic, "Der Rosenkavalier," Wednesday evening, Oct. 26 at 8.

"Der Rosenkavalier" was produced and directed by Dr. Paul Czinner, whose films of the Bolshoi and Royal Ballets proved that ballet can be succesfully transferred to the cinema. Now he repeats that success with opera. Dr. Czinner's "Der Rosenkavalier" has all the gaiety, lighthearted romance, comedy and intrigue of the original Strauss masterpiece.

Next Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27, these scenes will be duplicated at the Valley Firehouse when the Red Cross Bloodmobile makes its semi-annual visit to collect whole blood for use in local hospitals as well as for fractionation into plasma to be sent to Viet Nam.

Mrs. Thomas McKiernon and her corps of volunteers are expecting an unusually large group of donors for two reasons: one, the new annual credit card covering blood needs of donors and their families

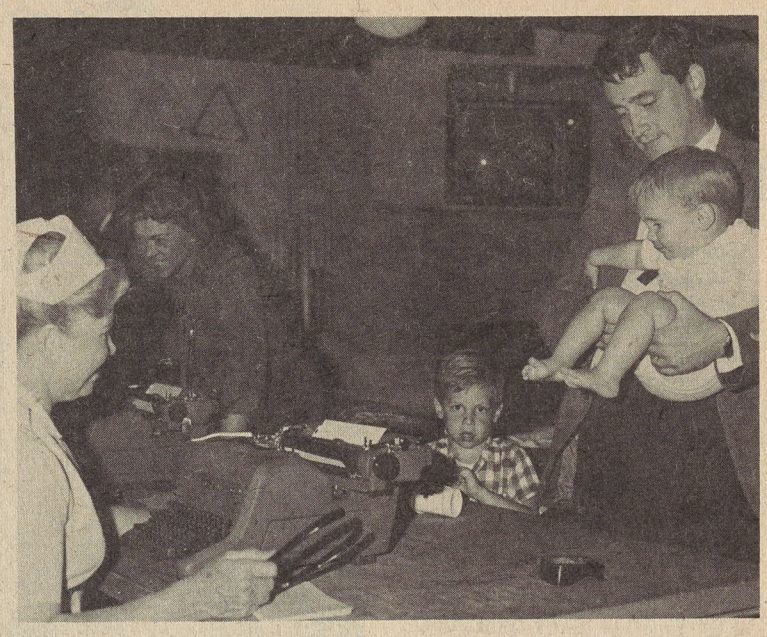
"I'LL BE GLAD to make an appointment for you in about 1976. Then you will be old enough and we'll be delighted to have your donation," Mrs. Thomas McKiernon tells young Holly Kenyon, a most enthusiastic viewer of Blood Bank procedure.



A SMALL PROBLEM such as having no baby sitter at the last moment did not prevent Michel Joyet (holding baby Alexander and with young Stephane in tow) from keeping his Blood Bank appointment. Mrs. Carvel Baldwin checks him in. (Mrs. Bill Klech is in the background.)

A FINE EXAMPLE of neighborliness is shown by Mal Tavares as he baby sits with young Alexander Joyet and enjoys a cup of coffee and the exchange of Valley news with Dick McKenzie holding daughter Dianne. Mrs. McKenzie was on duty as a nurse at the Blood Bank.

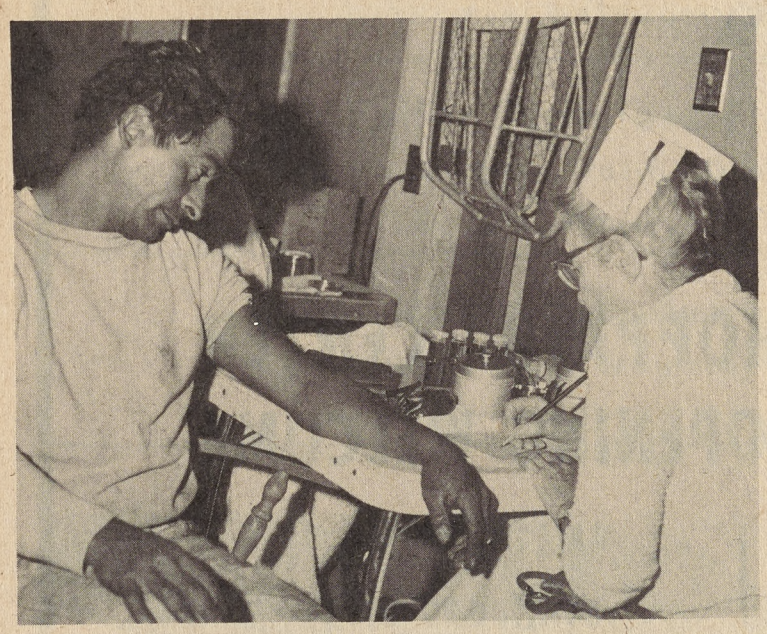
will be issued; and two, those people who have previously been rejected because of a medical history of malaria or hepatitis may now contribute blood to be made into plasma. Mrs. McKiernon hopes that for the first time the number of donors will reach the hundred mark, a goal for which Red Cross volunteers have worked for the past several years.

The drawing will be held between 3 and 6:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served by the Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary, and everyone in good health, between the ages of 21 and 59, inclusive, and who has not given blood within the past three months, will be welcomed at this community "party."

Those aged 18 to 20 and unmarried may also donate provided they have written parental permission. Forms for this are available at the Carmel Red Cross, 8th and Dolores streets, and will also be provided at the Firehouse on Oct. 27. Married couples of 18 to 20 are eligible without this formal permission. Baby sitting will be available at the Firehouse to donors.

MRS. LEONARD RHOADES (standing) drinks a glass of fruit juice while chatting with Mrs. Stephen Schaffer (far right). In the background Mrs. Don Corona pours juice while Mrs. R.R. Tillaston reaches for a plastic bag which will contain the blood.



MR. SAL OCAMPO gives his medical history prior to the drawing to Mrs. Marjory Haller. All precautions are taken to protect prospective donors as well as recipients of the blood.

Shopping center opening marks the result of ten years of planning

Growing need of upper Valley prompted shopping center development

There's a special, human reason for the handsome appearance of the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center, which is opening today in the Mid-Valley.

It's because the developers are long-time local people, who have proven their real pride in the area by spending more than usual for beautiful buildings and landscaping.

"Our roots are here," explained George Clemens, one of the three developers. "And we have been willing to spend the extra that's necessary to make our Carmel Valley Shopping Center something that the people of the Valley will appreciate. This explains our genuine concern with its aesthetic appearance, which has included extras such as the sawed shake-roof."

Sharing Clemen's deep desire to build an unusually fine center are the other developers, Paul Porter, long-time Valley developer and realtor, and Norman J. Craft, Clemen's partner in Monterey Insurance Agencies. Clemens also noted that their wives are equally committed to the top quality and beauty of the buildings.

The developers purchased the land about 10 years ago in anticipation of growth of the Valley. Clemens recalled that the six and a half acres were already zoned commercial in front of the newly-developing Berwick Manor subdivision.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of new $150,000 building for Crocker-Citizens National Bank at the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center in the mid-valley area. It features shake roof and blends with the rest of the handsome center. Architect Olof Dahlstrand of Carmel estimated it would be completed about April. Pres. Emmett G. Solomon of Crocker-Citizens announced at groundbreaking ceremonies for the new local branch that Mrs. Ramona Weer, now assistant manager of the bank's Carmel branch, would manage the new CV branch, and would be the first woman manager of a Crocker-Citizens' bank.

commercially-zoned corner just east of the present center, for which they envision eventual development for professional use.

Clemens was mayor of Monterey from 1963 to 1965 and a city councilman for four years before that. Always active in civic affairs, he served for six years on the Monterey Airport District board, and in 1953 was president of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. He was project chairman for development of the Monterey Marina and was instrumental in the successful conclusion of the freeway development.

When he lived briefly in Pacific Grove, he was a councilman there. He particularly enjoys serving as chairman of the Monterey Sister-City Committee, affiliating Monterey with Tainan.

A native of San Francisco, Clemens attended schools in Monterey and San Mateo. For 10 years he was manager of the Monterey Fish Canners Association.

In 1951 he bought out his uncle in the insurance business, changing the name to Monterey Insurance Agencies. It has grown to probably the largest area insurance firm.

Craft joined the firm about that time. He had been associated with insurance companies before that in San Francisco. A native of Ohio, he also had been in a managerial post with an insurance firm in Chicago, before moving West.

Supermarket features rapid checkout, air conditioning

Safeway's operating hours announced

The new Carmel Valley Shopping Center Safeway store, located at Carmel Valley Rd. and Dorris Dr., Carmel, will open for business at 9 a.m. today, Wednesday, Oct. 19, Safeway officials announced today.

The huge new supermarket covers 22,132 square feet in the shopping center being developed by Mid-Valley Associates of Carmel, and designed by O. Dahlstrand, also of Carmel.

The Safeway building is rustic in design character as is the overall center design motif.

The building has a gabled roof line with shake shingles. There is a covered walkway at the front and side of the building, for customer convenience and shelter.

The store interior-decor features attractive structural beam framework, lively wall colors, graphic cutout wall signs and high density illumination.

Numerous wide aisles have been provided to make it easy for customers to reach the more than 9,000 items which the store will stock. Customers' purchases will be quickly processed through six high speed checkouts. The store has been completely air-conditioned for year round comfort.

Parking space has been provided for 130 cars in the vicinity of the Safeway store.

Operating hours for the new store will be 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday, and 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on other days.

Cold weather fashions highlighted at Youth Center Show

The annual Fall Fashion Show of the Carmel Youth Center will be held on Saturday, Oct. 29, at 7:30 p.m. Festivities will continue with a dance following the show.

Sponsors for the show are Gladys McCloud, Boys' Town, Dorothea's, Masons', Shari's, Casa Dolores, and Draper's. Models will be members of the Youth Center who attend Carmel High School. Pam Baldwin, past president of the youth board will narrate the show, and Mr. Robert Forkes will provide background music on the organ.

Donation for showing of teenage fashions for fall is $1.50.

CVYO

There will be a hayride Saturday night, Oct. 22, at 7 p.m. for CVYO members and their guests. It will cost 75 cents for members and $1.25 for guests.

The truck, which will carry the guests all over the Valley, and then up to the Trail and Saddle Club for a cook-out of hamburgers, is being donated by the Hayloft.

The members are asked to bring a potluck to help make the cook-out a more enjoyable meal.

ATTENTION ALL MEMBERS:

CVYO needs all available members to pick walnuts at the Rippling River Ranch for the benefit of the CVYO treasury.

All money earned will go to the youth organization. Members will be notified at what time to be there. If not contacted, call Carl Cecka, 659-4040.

This is the chance to be a true-blooded member of the CVYO. Everyone is urged to join the "picking party," and help swell the treasury.

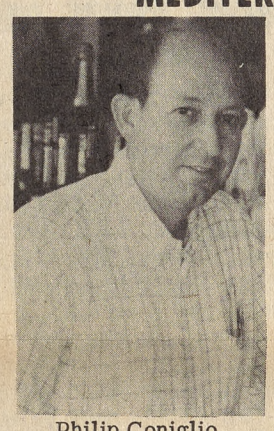
MEDITERRANEAN MARKET



Philip Coniglio

A shopping trip to the Mediterranean Market at Ocean Avenue and Mission in Carmel is an experience that even the most fastidious gourmet will appreciate. Owner Philip Coniglio has left nothing undone, from the provisioning of the shelves to the old world decor, to lend this retail establishment an aura of attractiveness to titilate the most jaded of appetites.

Cheese is cut to order from big wheels imported from the world's dairy centers, coffee is roasted and ground right in the market to assure day-to-day freshness and the food delicacies of the world are displayed on attractively arranged shelves and center aisles to permit the shopper to browse to heart's content. Fine wines, liquors and beer take over another section of the Mediterranean Market all to the consumate satisfaction of the customers served.

Truly one of the "different" markets in Carmel, the Mediterranean is a tribute to Philip Coniglio. He has left nothing undone to please his customers from the merchandise selection to the courteous and accomodating service ranging from individual sales to the wrapping and shipping of gifts world-wide. One of our foremost retail merchants, Mr. Coniglio has earned our appreciation and respect.

CARMEL DRIVE IN GROCERY

Evelyn and Dick Zoelin

A Carmel grocery which has won the praise and loyalty of their many friends and customers is Carmel Drive In Grocery, located at the corner of 8th and Dolores. With convenient and adequate parking in front and a friendly and courteous staff within the store, Carmel Drive In Grocery has experienced a steady growth in patronage and today is a leader among independent, home-owned markets serving the area. This must be attributed to the wise and sound leadership of owner J.R. "Dick" Zoellin, whose earnest desire to serve the public well and efficiently is so much in evidence.

At Carmel Drive In Grocery, the customer will find the staple groceries and produce, and an outstanding meat department owned and operated by Gene Zinani. The customer may also select from a complete line of liquors, wine and beer in a separate department, which is supervised by Mr. Zoellin's personable wife Evelyn. Everything about Carmel Drive In Grocery from the in-front parking to the display of merchandise has been arranged for the customer's convenience and all departments are open daily from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. They are closed Sunday.

Because of the manner in which the store is operated and also because of the civic-mindedness and community spirit exhibited by Dick and Evelyn Zoellin, we commend them and wish for them many more years of successful operation.

Ishvani, Feves present dance program

A blending and contrasting of dance forms of the East and the West, performed by Ishvani and Angene Feves, until recently of Carmel Valley, will be demonstrated in a special program Friday, Oct. 21, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Taking the form of a lecture-concert, the program will start at 8 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall. Admission will be free, but tickets must be obtained in advance in the college administration building.

Ishvani, former student and partner of the great Hindu dancer Uday Shankar, is an interpreter of the traditional Indian dances, though she believes that "the creative artist, drawing direct impressions from the world around her, must also, develop new forms."

During intensive study in India, she concentrated on the inter-relations of medieval Indian sculpture and classical literature with the dance forms of the country.

Miss Feves, a ballerina and choreographer, was associated with White Oaks Theatre and is currently director of the Richmond Ballet Company and associate director of the Oakland Ballet Company. As a performer, she has danced in ballet, musical shows and television in Italy and the United States. Recent engagements in California include roles with the Los Altos Festival, the Cabrillo Festival and the Oakland Symphony.

The Rhyming Philosopher

Come next election day, you'll hear the people say,
Let us wear our thinking caps and put our specs on.
We must use the brains God sent us
Choosing whom to represent us,
While eliminating those we put the hex on.

However this may be, most folks I think agree,
There are lots of problems waiting this November.
Just to exercise the franchise
Is a duty clearly man-size,
With our future in the balance, please remember.

In twenty days or so the folks 'round here will know
Which way the wind will blow and cause the mist to fall.
Though I'd love to prophesy it,
I'm not fool enough to try it,
Since sixty years ago I lost my crystal ball.

So cast your ballots well, and stay this side of hell,
Then we'll all be thankful evil days have missed us.
Save your strength and don't get nervous,
Look what's coming—Saints preserve us!
For in sixty-seven days, behold, it's Christmas!

UN Day program features international dances

Plans are being formulated for observance of United Nations Day on the Monterey Peninsula.

Because UN Day (Oct. 24) falls on a Monday, the chief observance will take place on Sunday, Oct. 23. A program of dances and other performances with an international flavor is being planned under the chairmanship of USO Director Frank Adams. It is expected that the program will run from 2-5 p.m. and will be at the USO.

The following day there will be a flag raising in front of Colton Hall, with Mayor Minnie Coyle, UN Day Chairman Fred Duffie and United Nations Association Chapter President Rev. George E. Ridgway present among others.

On Wednesday, Oct. 26, Seaside High School has obtained the services as a speaker of a Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for United Nations Affairs. He will spend the day at Seaside High, talking to the joint student bodies of Monterey and Seaside High Schools and in the evening to the PTA with the public invited.

If other organizations are planning UN Day observances or would like to participate in some observance, the local chapter of the United Nations Association would like to offer its services in coordinating this activity and invites such organizations to get in touch with it at 375-8476.

Reception for Congressman Talcott

Congressman and Mrs. Burt Talcott will attend a no-host reception at Rancho del Monte Country Club on Sunday, Oct. 23. All voters have been invited to meet and visit with the Talcotts between 3 and 5 p.m.

Dog trainer and druggist, Bob Steinmetz opens new Mid-Valley pharmacy

Dogs are his avocation, pharmacy his profession. Bob Steinmetz, until recently instructor in dog training for the Del Monte Kennel Club, is opening his own drug store this week in the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center.

He taught dog obedience for five years with the Club until turning over the responsibility to Frank Grover. This was when the multiple details of launching his own business began monopolizing his time.

When instructing dogs—which, he pointed out, also involved teaching their masters and mistresses—he sometimes got the oddest requests. For example, he had a number of people phone up to announce they were going to bring their dogs around and expected the beasts to be thoroughly trained with beautiful manners when they returned some months later.

The Steinmetz's own dogs, two poodles, behave nicely when Bob is around, but Marjorie, his wife, doesn't get similar cooperation from Freddie and Millie, their two poodles, when he isn't around.

FATHER-IN-LAW PARTNER

And Bob is now concentrating on their new pharmacy, in which he is partners with his father-in-law, Henry L. Palmer, who has moved here from Los Angeles to join him.

Marjorie will assist when needed, particularly in the post office branch in their store.

Not just a Native Son, Bob Steinmetz comes from a pioneer Monterey Peninsula family.

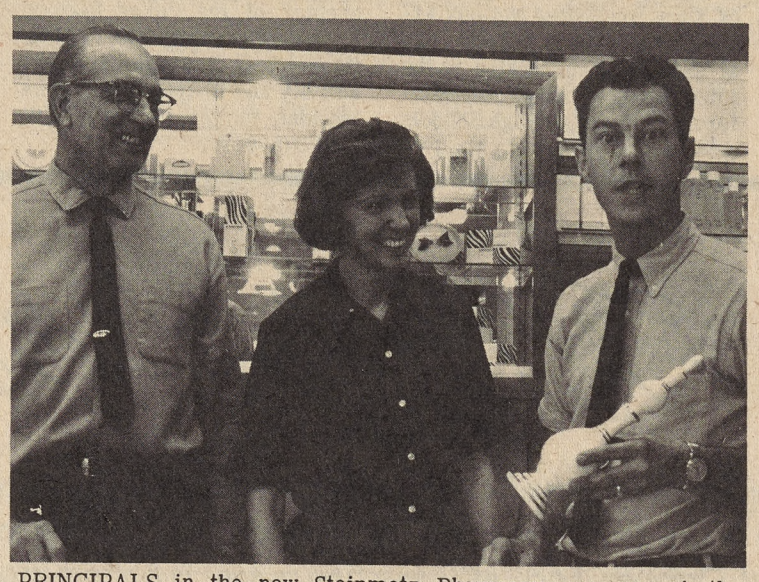
Bob's Pacific Grove roots go back to his grandfather, H. Steinmetz, who opened a blacksmith shop there in 1898.

Bob was born in Pacific Grove and is a graduate of Pacific Grove High School. He got his first job in a drug store there in 1939 when still attending high school.

UC GRADS

He attended Hartnell College in Salinas for a couple of years and went on to the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. He graduated with his degree in pharmacy in 1954.

And at UC Bob met a girl, Marjorie Palmer, from Los Angeles who was attending its nursing school. They were married about the time she graduated in 1957. Bob had put in his two-year hitch in the Army Medical Corps.



PRINCIPALS in the new Steinmetz Pharmacy, now open in the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center. From right are Bob Steinmetz, his wife Marjorie and her father, Henry L. Palmer, a partner in the business. They are standing in front of the generous cosmetic department.

Since 1957, he has worked as a pharmacist in a number of drug stores in Carmel. The Steinmetz family, which includes two children, lives in Carmel. They are Laura Lee, 5 1/2 years old, a first grader in River School, and Lee Ann, 4 1/2.

Carmel Valley has old-time memories for Bob, because he used to spend the summers at a cabin his parents owned at Camp Steffani. He has plans to move out to the Valley, to be handier to his new store.

PROFESSIONAL DECORATOR

The store is unusually attractive, no doubt because it was decorated by a professional decorator, Clair Young, A.I.D. of Salinas, assisted by Leslie Erickson. Featured is a pleasing variety of greens, including dark green carpet throughout the store.

Department names are in handsome lettering on gold-patterned panels. Included are "Squire Shop," "La Femme," "Groom, Gifts, Games," "Toiletries," "Cards" and of course prescriptions.

Spread over 3,400 square feet, the store is roomy enough to have the advantage of wide, spacious aisles. The generous cosmetic department features Dorothy Grey, Revlon and Rubenstein for women and English Leather for men. In the 56-foot card display, Norcross and Hallmark cards predominate.

"Our ambition is to meet the needs of the people of the community," Bob commented. "We want to be a truly neighborhood store."

Local youths to sing in Moral Re-Armament musical Friday at 8

"Up With People," young international group will present their musical show Friday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. in the new stage area of the Monterey Fairgrounds, sponsored by the Monterey Sing-Out under the auspices of Moral Re-Armament.

This cast has been traveling on the East coast of the country, Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Massachusetts.

Several young people from this area traveled with the group after the MRA Conference at Estes Park, Col. Nancy Cronwell and John Otter of Mid-Valley are back in local schools while Kathy Bingham, Beth McCabe, Emily Laurens of Carmel Valley, Pat Ector of Seaside, Jack Pendleton, Steve and Bill Hammond of Monterey will appear with the cast. They have given shows at Army and Air Force Bases across the country, and are arriving after a four day stay in the Seattle area.

A second cast is now on its way to Puerto Rico and the Caribbean and includes in its cast Bill Stowers and Sue Otter from Carmel Valley, Julie Fehring of Carmel, and Doug Pendleton of Monterey.

The third group with Arianne Bowman of Carmel Valley, Bobbye Ector and George Brown of Seaside has been performing throughout Canada into Nova Scotia and into several of the northern border states.

Tickets may be purchased at the Carmel Valley General Store, The Thunderbird Book Store, Carmel's Central Box Office, The Sweater Corner in Carmel, Abinante's Music Store, Monterey, or Gadsby's Salinas, or at the gate on the evening of the show.

10 nominated for CV Chamber directors, 5 more to be added

A slate of 10 nominees for directors of Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce was presented at last Wednesday's noon meeting at Robles del Rio Lodge, but the directors voted to up the slate to 15.

Five additional nominees are to be added at a special directors' meeting Friday morning at 8:15 at the Bank of America.

The newly proposed by-laws will also be further studied.

The 10 nominees were Pat Swan, Rex White, Mae Youngberg, Bob Kvenild, Joe Ricupero, Richard Brinton, Jean Klech, Luis Wolter, Bob Steinmetz and a White Oaks Theatre representative, Dave Wynne or Rodney W. Fye.

Niles Pease takes dim view of economic future in Kiwanis talk

A pessimistic view of the current economic trends was voiced by Niles Pease, Monterey pharmacist and partner in Carmel Valley's "General Store," in a talk last week to the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club and in a preceding talk.

He calls himself "an amateur economist and a student of the history of money." A graduate of USC, he has served on the California Board of Pharmacy.

He cited historical examples of debased currency, from the Roman Empire to the Revolutionary War, to Germany after World War I and to Brazil and other Latin American countries today.

The new economics have not repealed Graham's Law, he said, which states that if there are coins of two values in circulation the bad money will drive the good money out of existence.

Pease challenged the logic of the "new economic theories" of the late Lord Maynard Keynes on employment, interest and money. The famed British economist, who taught at Harvard, captured the belief of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the speaker contended, and is responsible for our deficit financing which has led to our current troubles.

"Any government that is big enough to give us everything we want," Pease said, "is big enough to take from us everything we have." He expressed fear that, monetarily speaking, we may have passed the political point of no return.

World Affairs Council to meet

The speaker for the October program of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula will be one of the earliest refugees from German Nazism.

Council president Wallace Getz has announced that Prince Hubertus zu Loewenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg will speak on "The Social Revolution of Freedom in Germany." The talk, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 21, will be heard at 8 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall.

Getz announced the council has extended an open invitation to the community to hear Prince Loewenstein, who will be feted by members of the council at a dinner at the Pine Inn preceding his lecture.

The speaker was born in 1906 in the Austrian Tyrol.

PACIFIC GROVE officially expresses its appreciation to Holman's Department Store on its 75th anniversary. Receiving the city council's resolution of congratulations for Holman's 75 years of service to the city are Mr. and Mrs. Wilford R. Holman. Presenting the framed document from the driver's seat of the covered wagon is Mayor Earl Don Grafton with Councilman Pete M. Dinkel, who introduced the resolution, adding his smile of appreciation.

Two new shops open in Carmel Valley Village

Several new businesses have opened recently in Carmel Valley Village.

They include a new beauty salon next to Henry Perry's barber shop on Carmel Valley Rd., and a new shop, "Origins," in the Cummings Building on Del Fino Pl. offering hand-loomed fabrics and other artistic creations.

Origins is owned and operated by Joe and Anna Burgess, both artists in a variety of media. They specialize in their own hand-woven woolens and styling striking cotton fashions. They design and make jewelry, notably with exotic feathers, and offer colorful stationery of their own design.

The couple met first while both were attending Cranbrook Art Academy in Michigan, where they were doing graduate work. She is also a graduate of the University of Hawaii and he of Pratt Institute. She also studied commercial art at Cleveland Institute of Art.

Anne was a designer for Dorothy Liebes in New York City. They moved here from Tempe, Ariz., where he was head of the design section of the art department of Arizona State College. Before that he headed the art department at Flint (Mich.) Community College.

"Bellehaven" is the name chosen by Mrs. Helen Haupt for her new beauty salon. It is done in a brown and beige decor.

A graduate of the Virginia Farrell School of Beauty in Detroit, Mrs. Haupt has lived in Carmel for four years where she was associated with the Top-not Shop.

In addition to her talent as a hair stylist, she still possesses the credentials to judge collies in dog shows. In Utica, Mich., she owned the Royal Scott Kennels which was devoted to breeding collies.

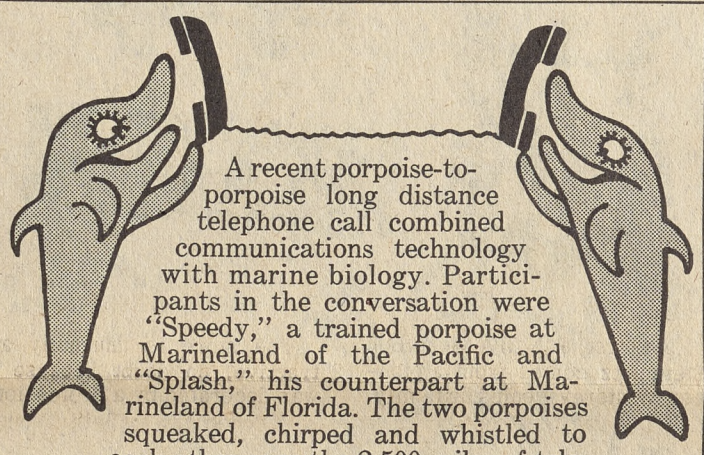
WHAT'S DOING?



A recent porpoise-to-porpoise long distance telephone call combined communications technology with marine biology. Participants in the conversation were "Speedy," a trained porpoise at Marineland of the Pacific and "Splash," his counterpart at Marineland of Florida. The two porpoises squeaked, chirped and whistled to each other over the 2,500 miles of telephone lines that separated them. Each listened intently to the other, with only occasional interruptions. Fortunately, a porpoise is a mammal, so no one can accuse me of telling a fish story.

43 years ago this month, the World Series baseball games were first broadcast on radio—from New York's Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds. Then, as now, the broadcasts traveled from the ballpark to the radio station over telephone lines.

When you're going out for the evening, here are a few suggestions that may help both you and the babysitter relax. Write down the names of the places you're going, the phone numbers, and the approximate times you'll be there. Have emergency numbers, including the family doctor's, written down also. Then—having taken these precautions, a night out can be more pleasurable.

Mark the date—November 8. (That's just an early reminder that voting day's not too far away.)

When moving, call your Pacific Telephone Carmel Valley Service Representative, 375-1511, to arrange for telephone service at your distant location. She can also arrange to have callers on your existing number referred to your new location for a reasonable length of time. Call her at our Business Office and she'll handle all the arrangements, whether you're moving across town or across the country. Hope our Easy Move Plan really does help make your move a little easier.
